Armistice Day Program Nov. 11

The War Mothers, the Legion and the Auxiliary to the Legion in co-operation with the Woman's Club and other local organizations of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county are arranging a celebration for Armistice Day, November 11.

Every patriotic citizen of Montgomery county is invited to attend the devotional exercises, which will be held that day on the court house square from 10:30 to 11:30 o'clock a. m. A simple but impressive service with good music, a short address and prayer, conducted by the local minister, assisted by the choirs of the various churches and the Choral Society will constitute the program.

In the morning an entertainment will be given in honor of the ex-service men of Montgomery county, to which all ex-service men are invited with the privilege of bringing one guest each.

The members of the local American Legion post will have charge of the evening's festivities and are planning for this get-together meeting with their buddies a program of fun and frolic to be given on the public square. Spectators are invited to be present. Immediately following the American Legion entertainment the people of Mt. Sterling and Montgomery county, represented by the War Mothers and the Auxiliary to the Legion, will serve a bountiful and delicious supper to the ex-service men and their guests at Prewitt and Botts' Hall.

It is hoped by the committees in charge that every one will help make this the real community celebration it should be by attending the service and assisting in every possible way to make the undertaking a big success.

Let us forget at this happy period of peace and prosperity, it is well to remind ourselves that while the war is over for most of us—for some of us it can never be over—that we have in our midst boys who are casualties of the great war in as great measure as those who died in battle.

These men need our help, sympathy and care until the government can relieve us of the responsibility.

In event the weather should be unfavorable to an outdoor celebration, arrangements have been made to hold the service and entertainment indoors at the time previously announced.

Horace Lane Is Injured By Auto

Tuesday night, about 7:30 o'clock, on Fifth street, just west of Sycamore, Horace Lane was run down by an automobile and suffered a broken hip and other painful injuries. Mr. Lane at the time of the accident occurred was delivering papers, with his son and, seeing the car approaching, called to his son to get out of the way, being unaware of his own danger. The machine, which was a Ford roadster, was driven by William G. Marshall, who did everything he could to avoid the accident.

Mr. Lane was taken to his home on Clay street by Mr. Marshall, where he received medical attention, and later was removed to the Mary Chiles Hospital, where he is reported to be getting along as well as could be expected, although suffering intensely. The accident is very regrettable, but is said to have been absolutely unavoidable.

Democrats Sweep Entire Nation; G. O. P. Majority Greatly Reduced

As Tuesday's elections are viewed in Washington here's what the voters did or made possible beside administering a stinging general rebuke to the Harding administration:

Republican control of both houses virtually lost because progressive, radical and agrarian groups hold "balance of power."

Legislative program of administration may be entirely abandoned if present Republican congress heeds the public verdict; ship subsidy plan upset; possibility Democrats may filibuster against money bills to force early session of new congress; "Old Guard" hold on big committees loosened.

Presidential possibilities, for 1924 lessened in number with alteration of prospect; President Harding, Senator Pomerene, former Senator Beveridge and Governor Miller probably eliminated.

Move to oust Senator Newberry certain and enough votes to accomplish it apparently assured; impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty to be pressed by augmented group of hostile congressmen.

New battle likely over "wet" and "dry" issue and strike legislation.

Harding inner circle broken up by defeat of several of his chief personal friends.

Democratic sweep declared by Chairman Hull to be result of combined protest of all elements of voters; third party movement regarded by Mr. Hull as holding no menace to Democratic party.

Senator Lodge Republican leader, reduced to impotence; Senator Borah, progressive Republican, likely to be dominant figure.

Republican control of the house of representatives in the sixty-eighth congress was determined finally by announcement of the election of R. Scott Leavitt, second Montana district, Wednesday, giving the Republicans the necessary 218 for a majority. At this hour the Democrats had 205, the Socialists one, Farmer-Labor one and Independent one, with nine districts still unreported.

For hours the Republicans were on verge of securing control. After the flood of returns Tuesday night and all day Wednesday there was a lull of many hours Wednesday night as the delayed returns trickled in. The returns seasawed with obstinate delay. One by one the Republican majority crept slowly upward and halted for three or four hours, with the Republicans but two short. The Montana returns put the Republicans "over the top."

Amazement over Tuesday's election reversals gave way to the realization that the Republican party virtually has become the minority party in the United States, despite the 7,000,000 majority in 1920.

This realization was no less poignant to Republican managers because of the possibility that the party's titular control of the house may yet be retained, along with that in the senate. But the narrow margin, the other elements entering into the situation and the unmistakable drift of the voters are items of small comfort to those who took Capitol Hill by storm two years ago.

In the first place, none dispute that the voters have administered an overwhelming rebuke to the administration which conceived the Fordney-McCumber tariff, seated Truman H. Newberry and otherwise incurred public wrath. The fact, notwithstanding shreds of solace here and there, laid a heavy pall upon Republican Washington.

But of more immediate concern was the prospect that, whether Republicans or Democrats hold an actual majority in the next congress, it will be possible for the progressive, radical and agrarian groups, now augmented in numbers, to exercise the balance of power. That these groups will seek control is the general expectation. Their own ability to achieve solidarity is the one element of uncertainty. Against this is the question as to how well the line of the two old parties hold.

An unofficial canvass of returns in eight of the ten counties in the Tenth district, approved by both candidates, gave a majority of 1,443 for John W. Langley, Republican, incumbent, over F. Tom Fletcher, Democrat. The normal Republican majority in that district is about 8,000.

James Becraft, of this city, and Miss Priscilla Bullock, of Middletown, Ohio, took their friends by surprise and were married in this city Tuesday night. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. For the ceremony the bride wore a becoming one-piece dress of dark blue canton crepe, with hat to correspond, and carried an exquisite arm bouquet of Radiance roses. Mrs. John C. Prewitt, who acted as matron of honor, wore a lovely frock of brown taffeta and hat of black lace and chiffon. Mr. Prewitt was best man to the groom. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bullock, of Middletown, Ohio, and is a beautiful accomplished young woman. Fields Carries County By a Large Majority

Congressman W. J. Fields received a majority of 530 over Strickland, his Republican opponent, at the polls in Montgomery county Tuesday. This was the only race in which there was any contest, and the election passed off very quietly, an exceptionally light vote being polled. Fields' majority in the district will be possibly six to seven thousand, and is proof conclusive of the popularity of our genial and capable representative.

In the city election, Lee Orear, L. T. Chiles, C. D. Gribbs and Dr. W. R. Thompson were elected members of the school board without opposition. Dr. Thompson being elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Dr. J. A. Shirley.

American Legion Educational Week

Education Week, set by the American Legion for national observance December 3 to 9, is the subject of a special article written for the American Legion by Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, and the National Education Association are co-operating with the Americanism commission of the legion in making the week a success. President Harding will issue a national proclamation, which will be followed by proclamations by governors and mayors.

"Education Week should be a time for strengthening our understanding of the foundations of American education," Dr. Butler says in the article, which follows:

"From the beginning the interest in education of the founders and makers of America has been unique. Harvard College was established in Massachusetts Bay only sixteen years after the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth. The common school quickly grew up in New England and spread over the whole United States as a typical American institution. Horace Mann and Henry Barnard put new life and higher ideals into the American school system nearly a century ago. The Ordinance for the government of the northwest territory, made in 1787, out of which territory so many of the middle western states have been carved, contained express provision for the support and development of public education. Long ago it became established public law that an American state or subdivision thereof might maintain by a public tax any type of instruction that it saw fit, however advanced. This principle underlies the public high schools and the tax-supported universities and technical schools.

"It is American doctrine, fortunately, that while education is a proper state function, it is in no sense a state monopoly. Schools, colleges and universities flourish and are encouraged to flourish in the field of liberty as well as in the field of government. The former are not supported by public tax, although frequently their property used directly for education is exempt from taxation. This is the state's way of encouraging private initiative to develop educational institutions in the field of liberty. By this unusually happy combination of tax-supported schools, colleges and universities, every public interest is met, while provision may readily be made for every shade of opinion and belief. In this way the American people keep their educational system free, elastic and adaptable to their every need, and avoid the hard and fast government-made and government-regulated educational systems of continental Europe.

"Every American who understands the fundamental principles which underlie American education and justify the faith of the American people in it, will resist all attempts to break down those principles, to substitute federal control or central regulation for local initiative, to displace elasticity for rigidity, or to compel conformity in Prussian fashion instead of upholding liberty in American fashion.

"From one point of view the faith of the American people in education is sublime, while in another it is pathetic. It is sublime in that it shows the American people at their best, in the full expression of their faith in the progress of mankind, in their unshakable confidence in the power of intelligence and disciplined character. Their faith is pathetic in that schools, colleges and universities, do what they will, fall so far short in their own deals and of what the American people have a right to expect of them.

"Education Week should be a time for reexamining the foundations of American education, for increasing our understanding of those foundations, for strengthening our confidence in them, and for resolving to do all in our power to make them our schools, both higher and lower, better able to justify the nation's faith in them and their influence. Schools, colleges and universities cannot be made by money, but only by personalities; must live, and the economic basis of schools and of the teaching profession must be sufficiently broad, sufficiently stable and ample to invite and to retain the consecrated service of the highest type of American men and women.

"Judged by the standards of history, democracy is still an experiment. In its short life it has accomplished marvels, but its steady march has developed many and grave difficulties. Let me repeat a sentence which I first wrote years ago: The difficulties of democracy are the opportunities of education."

The program for American Legion Education Week, December 3 to 9, and the subject that will be especially considered each day, follow:

TOADS OF SOME USE IN CURING CERTAIN PESTS

Toads have been reputed to aid in curbing the numbers of injurious insects and other similar pests. To ascertain the facts in the case the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture has analyzed the contents of the stomachs of 502 common toads, and reports that while the findings regarding the choice of food are of interest they thus far fail to demonstrate that the toads are of great economic importance. Toads go constantly about their own work of gaining a livelihood, and so undoubtedly fill their proper place in nature. They are never very numerous in one locality, however, and as they can not adopt the methods of birds and traverse wide stretches of land to aid in combating abnormal local increases of crop and garden pests their influence is not strongly felt. The investigation shows that a certain portion of the toad's food is made up of injurious insects and other pests of growing plants, and that the toad performs some service in such places as greenhouses, gardens, fields of small grain and golf courses. Any harm that toads do in the consumption of beneficial beetles and other insects useful to man is of little economic importance and does not warrant their indiscriminate destruction.

GROWERS FIND GRADING PAYS, SAYS SHIPPERS' ASSOCIATION

"The advantage of standardization is no longer a theory but an accomplished fact. Our selling price was from 15 to 50 cents per bushel higher than the other houses in this district, and the greatest advantage of a standard grade and pack will, of course, be secured in coming seasons, provided we maintain our standards."

This is but one of the many letters being received by the bureau of agricultural economics, United States Department of Agriculture, from producers' and shippers' organizations which have adopted federal grades for fruits and vegetables. The letter is from a co-operative peach shippers' organization in Ohio.

"We packed out our entire crop on the United States grades," wrote the president of the organization. "All our members are well pleased and, best of all, determined to begin in their own orchards at once to try to produce fruit of higher and better quality. We see no point at which the standards recommended by your department for peaches are not thoroughly practical, and another year we will doubtless eliminate the old markings entirely."

A club boy, under the direction of his county extension agent, is reported to the United States Department of Agriculture as having sold over 30,000 tomato and pimento plants from his hotbed this spring. He canned for the public this summer and sold both cabbage and lettuce plants this fall. He is working for a bank fund to go to college on when he is old enough.

LIFE SENTENCE FOR MURDER OF FEDERAL GAME WARDEN

For the murder of Edgar Lindgren, United States game warden in charge of the Iowa district, the maximum penalty, life imprisonment, was imposed upon Louis Esposito, who was convicted by a jury October 11. Warden Lindgren was shot and fatally wounded while discharging his duties near Big Lake, Iowa. While patrolling he encountered three Italians hunting in violation of the federal laws. Lindgren attempted to arrest them, and one of the three fired at him, almost blowing off his right hand. When the warden turned to get under cover he was shot twice in the back and once in the side. Esposito's brother, Sebastiana, is facing trial on the same charge. The third man is not charged with actually shooting at Lindgren.

The farm women of Greenwood county, South Carolina, are canning for a wholesale grocery company at the county seat. They are filling an order for 1,500 cases of tomatoes, 300 cases of kraut, 65 cases of beets, 300 cases of soup mixture, 275 cases of blackberries and 300 cases of pie peaches. They are also canning fig preserves and soup mixture for the South Carolina Home Producers' Association. This work, noted in a report to the United States Department of Agriculture, has been done according to methods taken to these rural women by extension agents.

GREAT ROAD DEVELOPMENT IN WYOMING DURING 7 YEARS

The last seven years have been a period of great road development in the State of Wyoming, according to figures collected by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. From 1914 to 1921 the total road mileage increased from 14,797 to 46,528 miles. This is in strong contrast to the majority of states, which have made great progress in road improvement, but without any appreciable change in total mileage.

During the seven-year period the mileage of improved road has increased from 1,724 miles to 6,867 miles. The mileage of road is classified as follows:

Unimproved	39,373
Graded and drained	6,715
Gravel, chert, shale	413
Hard surfaced	27

In the State there is a total of 613 highway bridges.

An analysis of the figures collected by the bureau shows that there is one-half mile of road per square mile of area; that the annual road revenue is $55.32 per square mile, $116.25 per mile of road, and $27.82 per capita.

In 1921 the total road revenue, including Federal-aid funds, amounted to approximately $5,408,000, and expenditures $4,726,000. During the year 1,673 miles of improved road were completed in the State and considerable maintenance work done.

That Federal aid is playing a considerable part in road advancement in this State is shown by the fact that on August 31, 474 miles of Federal-aid road had been completed, 421 miles were either under construction or approved for construction, and nearly $800,000 was available for new projects.

The State system of over 3,000 miles of road to be built with Federal aid and which will form a part of the Federal-aid highway system will be definitely settled upon within a short time.

Pelicans arriving at the Pelican Island Reservation, in Florida, on August 14, started nesting at once, according to reports reaching the biological survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. The first eggs were laid August 25 and the first young hatched September 26. Up to October 1 about 2,000 birds had come to the reservation.

Studebaker

It is not necessary to buy a high-priced roadster to get maximum comfort. Comfort is a matter of correct design. Comfort is built into the Studebaker Light-Six.

The seat is placed at just the right angle for relaxation and is provided with big, fat cushions, upholstered in genuine leather. The semi-elliptic springs are long, strong and resilient.

There is ample luggage space under the rear deck—plenty of room for everything you may want to carry.

Vibration, which is so destructive to motor cars, is practically eliminated by the perfect balance of the motor. This is largely due to the fact that the crank-shaft and connecting rods are machined on all surfaces, an exclusive Studebaker practice for cars at anywhere near the Light-Six price.

Economy of operation is increased by valves inclined at a 20-degree angle and by the internal hot spot.

This handsome roadster is a quality car throughout. It is sold at $975 only because of complete manufacture, in large volume, in one of the most modern and complete motor car plants in the world.

Middlemen's profits are thus eliminated, and the savings are passed on to you.

The Light-Six Roadster well upholds Studebaker's 70-year reputation for dependability and dollar-for-dollar value.

Attractive cool lights. Theft-proof transmission lock. Cool ventilator. Storm curtains opening with the doors. Large plate-glass window in rear curtain. Inside and outside door handles. Upholstered in genuine leather. Ample space under the rear deck for luggage.

SLAUGHTER RECORDS BROKEN

The number of hogs slaughtered under federal meat inspection during the month of September was 2,747,467. This is 325,117 more than were slaughtered in any previous September for which records are kept, according to figures of the bureau of animal husbandry, United States Department of Agriculture. The condition is unusual in that it is the fourth consecutive month in which the monthly slaughter record of hogs has been broken. The meat inspection forces have, as a result thereof, been engaged in very heavy operation at a time of the year when it is usual to expect a smaller run of hogs.

The number of farm boys and girls enrolled in all lines of boys' and girls' club work in each state varied last year, reports to the United States Department of Agriculture indicate, from 610 in Nevada to 38,545 in Oklahoma. The value of the products of these young farmers and home makers ran from $7,000 in Arizona to over $475,000 in Indiana.

Some men expect a nickel's worth of religion to last them all week.

COST OF TESTING CATTLE

REDUCED UNDER AREA PLAN

As a result of the area plan of tuberculosis eradication, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the cost of testing has been reduced. The pioneer counties which undertook the work naturally incurred greater expense than those which followed their lead and took advantage of their experiences. But, in spite of this, records of the department show that for the 21 counties in various states for which figures are available the cost of testing was only 34 cents a head.

THE PEOPLE MUST RULE

If the result of Tuesday's election point to any one single fact, it is that the people must rule. The Democrats were given greatly increased majorities from one end of the nation to the other, not on account of their accomplishments in the past two years, but as a rebuke to the present Republican administration.

The voters of this country realize that they were misled by the Republican party two years ago and took this, their first opportunity, to denounce the national administration and the policies it has advocated, which in every instance has been in the interest of Wall Street and the moneyed interests. The Democratic party is the people's party and the big majority of voters of this country realize that if we are to again enjoy the prosperity to which we are entitled it must be under a Democratic administration. While the Republicans will still have a small majority in both houses, it will be greatly reduced, and it may be possible to block much Republican legislation. At any rate, it seems certain that by the time another two years roll around the Democrats will again be in control and a Democratic president will occupy the White House.

The election of Tuesday was a stinging rebuke to the Republicans and puts the nation's stamp of approval upon the Democratic party as the one to lead us out of the wilderness, out of a condition of unrest into a state of prosperity and plenty.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Tabb Theatre's ad in this issue of The Advocate announcing the booking of Rupert Hughes' newest and latest special feature photoplay, "Remembrance," is a scoop by the management of no mean caliber for this big special picture is advertised at the Strand Theatre in Lexington for the coming Sunday and Monday, and will be at the Tabb the following Wednesday and will be offered at Lexington prices.

The Advocate feels that the management may well feel proud that the Tabb is able to offer not only one of the season's greatest specials practically day and date with Lexington, but is meeting Lexington prices, and when one considers the very limited drawing power that there is in a town the size of ours for a theatre this makes these city prices all the more noteworthy.

We are advised that this is the first time the Goldwyn Picture Corporation, owners of "Remembrance," has ever consented to let the Tabb have any of the specials, to offer with Lexington or at their prices. These arrangements were only made possible through continual efforts of Mr. Small with Goldwyn's New York home office and after two personal trips to their booking exchange in Cincinnati. Tell your friends about "Remembrance" being at the Tabb Wednesday. Let's all boost this one. A good crowd at the matinee and at the night show will assist all the merchants' business in general. If you go to Lexington Sunday or Monday, remember "Remembrance" is at your own theatre Wednesday.

DUFF CAPTURES THREE OF 'EM

Prohibition Agent Robert E. Duff and his posse made a big capture at the Farmers bridge, in Rowan county, Saturday night, taking into custody three men, Walter Thurman, Charles Thurman and Farmer Brown, all of Rowan county, and securing 11 quarts of moonshine liquor, a lot of bar glasses and funnels and clothing. The car, a Ford touring, was fitted up like a regular bar. It is claimed, and the men were prepared for a land office business. The men were brought before Commissioner Wood Monday, when they waived examination, and were held to the January term of the Lexington court, and remanded to jail in default of $1,500 bond each.

Agent Duff says that the capture is one of the best made in months. Walter Thurman was wanted by the Bath county authorities also. He is said to be the "Bib Mojo" of the bootleggers and efforts have been made for many months to take him into custody. The automobile was confiscated by Mr. Duff and the whisky was poured into the gutters here by order of Commissioner Wood.

SAFETY AT SEA

Ocean travel is far safer than land travel. The perils of those who go down to the sea in ships belong to tradition. The development of safety devices, particularly the wireless, has multiplied the chances of rescue from shipwrecks many times.

Before the days of the S. O. S. call the 217 human beings who abandoned the City of Honolulu recently might or might not have been picked up from the open boats. As it was, three ships started toward them a moment after the wireless call for help was sent, and the freighter Yeat Faraon reached the spot within three hours of the time when passengers and crew abandoned the burning ship.

Everyone remembers Jack Binns, the wireless operator who stuck to his post to the last on the ill-fated steamer Republic in January, 1909. It was the first occasion when a wireless call saved many lives. The next dramatic instance was the Titanic disaster in April, 1912, when hundreds were rescued by the Carpathia, summoned to the scene by Operators Phillips and Bride. In practically every sea disaster the wireless plays its creditable part. Like other blessings of civilization we take it as a matter of course, scarcely realizing how much it has contributed to the pleasure and safety of travel on the trackless highways of the sea.—Brooklyn Eagle.

He continued the custom at Biarritz and there now are said to be 60 women in France wearing the new decoration.

When King Alphonso enters a ball room he looks around for the prettiest and best dancer present. Usually, it is stated by travelers returning from Biarritz, his fancy fixes upon an American girl.

His choice made, the king's gentleman in waiting crosses to the girl selected, makes a profound bow and states formally:

"His Majesty the King of Spain requests the honor of a dance with you, mademoiselle."

After the dance the king presents the brooch. All of them are of the same size and design.

RELIGIOUS

Rev. Noel Hodges will preach at Camargo consolidated school Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Subject, "The Divine Plan of Salvation."

Baptist Church—Sunday School at 9:30. Classes for all ages and a cordial welcome awaits you. The pastor will preach at 10:45 a. m. and 7 p. m. The B. Y. P. U. meets at 6 p. m. You are cordially invited to these services.

Zerubbabel Lodge, No. 199, F. and A. M., will attend special services which will be held for them at the Somerset Christian church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend these services.

Rev. Richard Clark was greeted by a large house at the Methodist church Sunday night and delivered a sermon that gripped the large audience from the question of the lawyer of Jesus, "What Shall I Do to Inherit Eternal Life?" and Jesus' question to him, including the summary of the law by Jesus and the beautiful parable of the Good Samaritan. He is an attractive and forceful speaker, spirit filled and endowed. God has blessed him with a rich, resonant voice, and a clear mind that grasps and presents the letter of the truths and a nature divinely wrought upon that apprehends the profundity of spiritual life. Does not the Bible say: "The natural man receiveth not the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him, for they are spiritually discerned?" Brother Clark has had some unusual experiences which make him an enigma to worldly minds. This being his first invitation to speak in a Mt. Sterling church, he was deeply touched and greatly appreciated the privilege.—Rev. J. W. Crates.

Methodist Church—Sunday School at 9:30. The greatest school with the longest history, the greatest book, the highest curricula, the largest attendance, the youngest and the oldest students and finest products. Be one among its pupils. Morning worship at 10:45. Theme, "Workers for the Kingdom." Epworth League at 6:15. Let those who are older come and by their presence help encourage the leaguers in the fine work they are doing. Let all the young people engage heartily in this serviceable branch of the church. Evening worship at 7 will be devoted to an interesting program under the direction of Mrs. Crates. All are asked to be present. Remember Wednesday night. This is the Week of Prayer of the Woman's Missionary Societies. These organizations made a splendid record last year, their funds amounting to $1,112. Take care of the church. Don't be a knocker; be a booster. A gentleman said the other day something like this, "The world would be in a sad plight but for organized Christianity." The church is the best institutional asset of society. WHAT ABOUT FATHER?

Does father have a fair chance in this striving, thrifty democracy of ours?

The praises of mother have been told in song and story for untold ages—even son and daughter, in various stages of development, have had their delighted chroniclers, but most writers have overlooked the nominal head of the family. Father has been used merely as a background for the wife, son or daughter. And it must be confessed that that is what the father is in perhaps the majority of families in America.

Just because he is the background for his family, he has been neglected by novelists, dramatists and motion picture writers. But now comes in the person of Rupert Hughes, Goldwyn author and director, a celebration of the virtues of the father of the average American family. His latest motion picture, "Remembrance," is devoted to chronicling the life and struggles of "Pop" Grout and his little business in a middling American town.

"Remembrance" is coming to the Tabb Theatre Wednesday, November 15. Every father will want to see it, and every wife, mother and son and daughter should see it. Father should round up his entire family and take them to see this super-photoplay. It will give them a new respect for the father and a new understanding and sympathy with the daily problems and perplexities which confront him.

A. B. Wells bought on a special order for Garrard and Company, of South Bourbon, Va., a carload of mules from Indiana parties at prices from $135 to $175. They were high grade cotton mules. He shipped from St. Louis a carload of cotton mules that go to Reedsville, N. C., and are to be sold at auction Tuesday next. He also shipped a carload of mules that go to South Hillville and will be disposed of at auction.

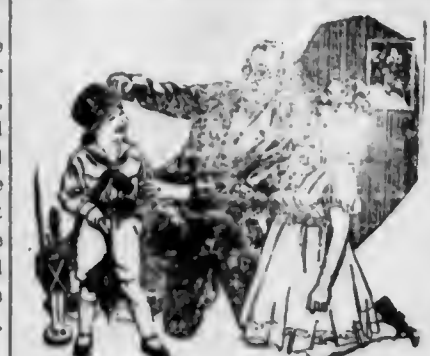

Mr. Wells sold 20 mining mules to W. V. Webb, Williamson, W. Va., at prices ranging from $80 to $100, and to the same party a carload of big mules, ranging in price from $135 to $150, and shipped a carload of cotton mules to Henderson, N. C., that go at auction.

A. B. OLDHAM & SON

PICTURES FOR CHILDREN

Let us give our children special training in the early years of their lives, in the knowledge of beautiful pictures. Help them to enjoy the pictures in the home.

When our children were babies, we often talked to them about our pictures. As a result, they could point out such pictures as Raeburn's "Boy and the Rabbit," Sargent's "Frieze of the Prophets," pictures of the Boy John, the Aurora, Hofmann's "Head of Christ," several of the Madonnas and Sir Galahad.

It always gave them great pleasure when they would find these pictures in other homes. It also gave them an appreciation of art, and stimulated their interest and observation.

One day, my oldest boy, aged five, pointed to the picture of Burne-Jones' "Golden Stairway" and said, "Mother, did they take that picture with a kodak or did someone paint it." Then and there we talked together of how prints were made from great pictures, and of the galleries where the originals are kept.

While teaching kindergarten, I had bought a large plain oak picture frame with a hinged back so that pictures could easily be changed during the year. As I recalled this, I decided that it would be a good thing to have one in the home. So I had two such frames made. The boys are so proud to have their very own framed pictures hanging by their little white beds.

And it has been interesting to see the enjoyment they take in changing the pictures, and in making their own selections.

It has resulted in a good collection of pictures which the children add to as they find those that interest them. To this I have added many of the Perry and Brown prints which I had used in my kindergarten work, and we save the covers of magazines that depict child life and activities.

I have noticed that the children prefer colors to the black and white studies. They care for pictures of people or animals rather than for those of inanimate objects. Boys like pictures showing strength, as knights and soldiers; while girls like those portraying daintiness, beautiful children and ideal surroundings. Both boys and girls like pictures of activities and sports and once in a while they fancy a beautiful landscape.

These suggestions could be carried out in any home, with the present wealth of good magazines, such a collection could be easily made, and at little cost, while a very inexpensive frame would suffice.—Edith Riland Cross.

IF IT FITS—

We know homes where, if the husband should kiss his wife when he leaves in morning it would cause as great a sensation as it would if she should shoot him.

We suppose with the lengthened skirts the demand for silk hosiery has fallen off as greatly as the demand for silk shirts did after those easy war jobs got the gate.

The failure of a large share of the marriages is not due to the fact the husband and wife do not understand each other, but to the fact that they understood each other too dog-gone well.

When the boss comes down in the morning and is about as pleasant as a lion with a splinter in its foot don't imagine he had raw meat for breakfast. Either the coffee was cold or his wife asked him for the price of a new honnet.

An old maid can't for the life of her see how Heaven's going to be a pleasant place without the marrying there either. But that is its greatest attraction to some of the married women.

It never pays to overdo things. Many a young fellow has flattered a girl so much he has convinced her she is too good to waste herself on him.

Now and then a man at a banquet gets up and confesses he is too full for utterance but the ladies never eat that much.

Probably no politician is quite so good at viewing with alarm as the average wife is. But she doesn't have to wear herself out pointing with pride, you'll notice.

Religion always is a failure when it only gets to work a few hours on the Sabbath.

When the neighbor women can't find anything else mean to say about a young couple, whose engagement has been announced, they'll remark: "Well, he's going to have an invalid on his hands for the rest of his life."

We get a lot of consolation out of thinking most of the dear ladies who have deserted their homes for politics weren't very good cooks, anyway.

The reason why a young fellow should always choose a sensible girl for a wife is because the married combination always need at least one member with sense.

A good pair of ears will win you more friends than a ready tongue.—Sam Hill in Cincinnati Enquirer.

HIT OR MISS

Now, when his wife is at the wheel, he always does turn pale, because, you see, she drives a car. The way she drives a nail.

It may not be of much interest to anybody, but the fellow who waits for the right girl to come along these days is going to get confused.

A woman who grows old gracefully is the one who feeds her husband and treats him right and overlooks his little weaknesses and trusts to his sense of decency.

Sometimes it looks to us as if the country suffers more from skin games than from skin diseases.

YOUR POSSIBILITIES

Do you radiate enthusiasm, self-confidence and optimism?

Are you a slave to worry and fear?

Are you buoyant, full of energy and the joy of living?

Or are you half alive and dragging through the days?

Is your personality so magnetic that it is a stimulus to meet you?

Or are you so colorless that it is hard for you to make the right sort of friends?

Are you following the line of least resistance, just drifting along?

Or are you swimming up stream, getting somewhere?

Are you meeting the world in a spirit of glorious adventure, with the will to struggle manfully and win?

Or are you shrinking from its bruising contact, and timidly retiring to the slough of "What's-the-Use?"

If you are not up to par physically, mentally and socially you ought to be, and what's more, you can be! Whoever you are, wherever you are, whatever you are doing.

You can be well. You can be happy. You can become any sort of success that you choose.

You have the native ability; there are several different kinds of genius slumbering within you—yes, within you! But ability without education is like a tree without fruit. Education means to "draw out," not to put within, and I purpose to show you how to draw upon genius, your infinite possibilities, and realize them to the greatest degree.

Within every man and woman there are vast untapped resources awaiting development. You are like a hundred-acre field of inexhaustible richness with but ten acres under different cultivation; the average one of us has only scratched the surface. Surface soil farmers! when we could be sub-soiling and reaping the multiple increase.

As you would cultivate a field with the right method and implements, so can you cultivate yourself.

Practical psychology is both the method and implement for self-cultivation. Its method is so simple that you can apply it every day, use the implement everywhere. You can get results at once along all lines; there is not a phase of life that practical psychology does not enter into. You have but to earnestly desire and use the method intelligently and sincerely to cultivate yourself. But it is not enough to make up your mind to do these things. You must also know how to do them.

Just so surely as there is a key to a mathematical problem, there is a key to successful living.

Practical psychology is this key.

With it you may put to rout disease and physical deficiency, unhappiness and failure and all their kindred ills, and substitute for them health, happiness and success.

It is the purpose of this talk to give you this key, to teach you the laws of human life, physical, mental, moral, temperamental, psychic and spiritual, and to show you how to use them, to apply them to your daily living so that you may get results immediately.

DOWN WITH THE TAX DODGER!

Strength to the arm of the internal revenue bureau in its effort to run down frauds that it apparently has good reasons to believe have been perpetrated by certain income taxpayers. The falling off in tax receipts has led the bureau to look beyond the general decline in incomes for an explanation. And it seems that it expects to find such explanation in the returns of dodgers who have failed to list their incomes fairly.

It is inevitable that in the large number of taxpayers filing income returns some evaders will be found. That is the sad human nature of it. Since long before the days of Ananias and Sapphira property owners have numbered some who have attempted to evade burdens entailed by ownership via taxes or levies or charges fixed by community or social or religious relationship. It is a warranted conclusion that such evaders still exist. It is for the government to find them, if it can. So much is owned the honest taxpayers. He who dodges taxes does more than cheats the government out of its just dues. By shirking his proper part of the burden he casts an excessive burden upon others. He is an enemy to his fellows, a disturber of the balance that should exist under Republican government—and should be dealt with as severely as the law permits.—Washington Post.

NEW VARIETY TAKING PLACE OF DISEASE-AFFECTED CANE

Five years ago the sugar plantations of Porto Rico were threatened with disaster because of the sudden appearance and the rapid spread of a serious disease known as yellow stripe, or mosaic disease, and the planters appealed to the United States Department of Agriculture for help. Investigators sent to the island by the Bureau of Plant Industry to cooperate with the insular and Federal experiment stations there soon discovered that a variety of cane known as Kavangire, then being grown only in experimental plots, seemed to be immune to the disease, which was attacking practically every other variety grown in Porto Rico.

Kavangire cane is grown commercially in the Argentine, and through the effective cooperation of the director of the Tucuman Agricultural Experiment Station the department made arrangements for an immediate shipment of 5 tons of seed cane of that variety to Porto Rico. The cane was packed in charcoal in barrels and shipped about the middle of July, 1919, arriving on the island early in September. This is probably the longest haul of seed cane in large quantities ever made.

The immune cane was grown by the Federal and insular experiment stations for the purpose of increasing the quantity of seed cane. Later this was distributed to each of the centrals on the island, and a recent report shows that it has been giving very good results. One of the stations had 500 acres of Kavangire this year and is planning to increase to 1,000 acres next year. Another has 200 acres in one valley and considerable plantings in other districts. About half of the cane acreage in this locality is now out of cane because of the mosaic disease and only the new variety will be planted hereafter.

One grower of the immune variety reports yields of from 40 to 50 tons an acre, with a sucrose content of 16 to 17 per cent. Another planter says he sold 2 acres of this variety for seed, receiving $500 for the standing cane.

Over 50,000 farm boys and girls were enrolled as pig club members in 1921, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. These young farmers reported growing nearly 60,000 purebred pigs, valued at $1,500,000, and managed according to improved methods of housing, feeding and care advanced by extension workers.

Road Bonds In Mountains Win

While a small vote was cast in most of the congressional races in the state Tuesday, local issues in many localities brought out a large percentage of the voters. Bond issues and school board elections in many places were of paramount interest.

Perry and Bell counties passed by large majorities the $500,000 and $100,000 road bond issues, which will provide for inter-county seat highways in the mountains. Road bonds were voted in five other mountain counties.

In Madison county a 20-cent road tax was defeated by a two to one vote. A $10,000 street bond issue in Stanford failed to carry by 14 votes. Hazard voted school bonds, giving a 1,400 majority. Versailles approved a $25,000 bond issue for waterworks by a large vote.

In a closely contested race in Richmond the old school board was returned. The voters, by this action, approved an extension building program with a large increase in the school tax, which was recommended by the present board.

Georgetown also elected a board of education, the issue being the location of a new school building. Candidates who favored the site of the present building were returned winners. In Nicholasville the present board of education was re-elected. Paris also returned the old board, it having no opposition.

TARIFF LOOT

Even the most enthusiastic advocates and defenders of the Fordney-McCumber profiteers' tariff law concede that it will yield not above $350,000,000 a year in revenues for the federal government. Conservative critics of the act have estimated that it will add not less than $3,000,000,000 annually to the cost of living. Accepting both these figures as approximately accurate, the conclusion is that the American people are paying $2,650,000,000 in taxes to private interests.

If the people of the country should decide that instead of imposing a tariff for the "protection" of private enterprise the revenues thus derived should go to meet the expense of the federal government, including the extinction of the national debt, to pay additional compensation to the soldiers and sailors of the world war, to initiate and complete various internal improvements and to enlarge and extend the benefits of the government, they might soon accomplish a great many things that now seem financially impossible.

Suppose that out of this vast total of $3,000,000,000 it was determined to devote $2,000,000,000 a year to the reduction of the national debt; $250,000,000 to the building of good roads; $250,000,000 to the reclamation of arid lands; $250,000,000 to additional compensation for soldiers and sailors of the world war, and $250,000,000 to the improvement of inland waterways? The total annual outlay for all these purposes would be the equivalent of the sum now going into the pockets of corporations and individuals.

Instead of a tax upon the many for the benefit of the few, the tariff could in this supposititious case be made a levy upon all for the advantage of all. Whether the people will ever consent to bear so large a burden in behalf of these projects is a matter which they alone have the right to determine. What is written here is not to advocate any of these things, but to illustrate the vastness of the sum which is now being taken from the people's incomes, and the public uses to which it might be better applied.

In the course of ten years, provided the present Fordney-McCumber law is not meantime repealed or modified, the American people will have paid to their government $3,500,000,000 in taxes and by the way of tribute to private interests and special privilege some $26,500,000,000, or more than the cost of the world war to this country.

Over 2,100 of the 2,850 agricultural counties in the United States employ at least one agricultural extension worker, who acts as a joint representative of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural college in conducting demonstrations of farm and home practices found most successful by experiments of these institutions. They also give advice and assistance in farming matters by personal visits, correspondence, telephone messages, community meetings and articles in the local press.

UP GOES SUGAR!

Sugar has steadily risen in price since the passage of the Fordney-McCumber profiteers' tariff act, and a new advance has been announced by the refiners. Already the retail price of sugar in certain parts of the country has gone to eight cents a pound. What the price will be in another month or two depends entirely on the disposition of the refiners and the profiteers.

Producers of beet sugar in Europe have a surplus of 800,000 tons. It is reported from Paris. There is not likely to be any shipments of American beet sugar to European countries. The Cuban crop, it is announced from Havana, is so large that grinding of the cane will begin a month earlier than usual. If the economic laws of supply and demand were unhampered by the prohibitive tariff law enacted by the Republican congress six weeks ago, sugar would be cheaper instead of dearer at this moment.

The tariff on sugar prevents fair competition and gives the American sugar trust an opportunity not only to profit by the increase of 43 per cent in the sugar tariff, but to grab twice that much from the pockets of the American consumers.

Women especially will understand what these higher prices of sugar mean in the expense of the household. They will be reminded daily of the Republican tax on the sweetening for little delicacies of the table. They will be convinced of the truth of the New York Herald's statement that the American people will have to pay, as a consequence of this profiteers' tariff, some $260,000,000 annually to put sugar in their teacups.

Kentucky Means "Meadowland"

Taking issue with Judge Charles Kerr, who in his recently published history, declared that, contrary to the general belief, the word Kentucky means "the land of tomorrow," Colonel Thomas G. Stuart, of Winchester, who spoke Tuesday night before the Bradford Historical Society in Lexington, asserted that he was practically certain that the old tradition regarding the word is true and that it means "meadowland."

Colonel Stuart spoke on "Clark County as the Cradle of Kentucky History." He asserted that it was the first land to be left dry when the waters receded from Kentucky in the prehistoric days. Later, he said, the county was inhabited by mound builders similar to those that lived in Mexico. In the pioneer days it was the first stopping place of Daniel Boone, the speaker pointed out.

Colonel Stuart stated that he is at present endeavoring to prove that the French traders established a trading post in Clark county before the days of Boone. He said that through Father George O'Brian, Winchester, he is in communication with Catholic church authorities at Quebec who have access to authentic records.

Burley Pool Has 75,000; New "Lightning" Amazes Edison

With the goal of 75,000 members, set some time ago for the present year, achieved, the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association officials now are giving their attention to preparation to receive the 1922 crop, for which receiving plants of the association will be open some time between December 1 and December 15. No more 1922 crops will be received.

Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker said Tuesday that some growers had been laboring under the impression that they would have to bring their tobacco to one of the larger delivery points in order to obtain the best grading and, therefore, the best price. That is a mistaken idea, Mr. Barker declared.

"One of the primary objects of the organization of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association," he said, "was to see that every tobacco grower gets the same price for the same quality of tobacco and to end the injustice of the old system of selling, by which some crops sold at 30 cents a pound and tobacco of equal quality sold for fifteen cents a pound. It does not make any difference where the grower delivers his tobacco, he will get the same grading service, whether he delivers at one of the larger receiving points or at the smallest receiving point in the district. The graders of the association at these smaller points are men of just as much ability and of as high character as the graders at the largest point in the district."

"We hope that growers will deliver their tobacco to the nearest receiving plant of the association, instead of hauling their tobacco long distances with the mistaken idea of getting a better service. The men who will grade our tobacco this year will be the best we can get, no matter to what point they may be assigned, and the grower will get just as good service at the smallest as at the largest point of delivery."

Monday the campaign closed with a big meeting at Harrodsburg, where the speakers were Vice President R. W. Allin, Director of Warehouses R. M. Barker and J. Sherman Porter, all of whom urged the growers to join, but assured them that if they remained out until after midnight that day they could not get in "for love or money," so far as this year's crop is concerned.

"What next?" Such was the exclamation of Thomas A. Edison, famous electrical wizard, after he had watched Dr. Charles P. Steinmetz, chief consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, hurl thunderbolts from his artificial lightning-making machine in his laboratory in the General Electric works at Schenectady, New York.

Dr. Steinmetz directed one of his lightning flashes against the limb of a tree and it was splintered in several places, much the same as would result from regular lightning. He then showed the electrical wizard from East Orange what lightning would do to heavy porcelain insulators which were not protected by lightning arresters. He first conducted an experiment with the arrester attached to the insulator, when nothing happened outside the crash of the lightning, and then, taking away the arrester, the heavy porcelain insulator was broken into several pieces.

This is the practical use of his lightning making machine, he explained, to test electrical apparatus, which has to be made to withstand thunderstorms when put into use.

There were two other outstanding features in Edison's visit to the General Electric plant. He saw the Hoxie voice film machine, which records a person's voice on a film, much the same as the movie film records the picture. When light rays are thrown onto this film the voice is reproduced in wonderful clearness.

This means, Edison was told, that the talking movie is now possible, that voice can be synchronized with the picture, that both voice and picture can be made on one film. He was also told that this promised to prove a big asset in the radio broadcasting field.

A central studio could be set up in New York, where great artists could sing or play musical instruments, the sounds photographed on the film and this sent to San Francisco or any other city in the world or reproduced into a radio station transmitter with the exact quality of the original sounds.

It was pointed out that the repro-

"Wets" Jubilant Over House Gain

More jubilant than the Democrats are the anti-prohibitionists, who see in the election returns a pronounced reversal of public opinion against the Volstead law, and even possibilities of "wet" control over the next house.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment announced it had positive knowledge of the election of 155 candidates for representative who may be depended upon to support efforts for the modification or repeal of enforcement legislation. This is a net gain of thirty "wets," but a great acquisition of strength is expected as doubtful races are decided.

As a result the opponents of prohibition are already laying plans for pressure on the next congress for modification of some of the more drastic provisions of the Volstead law. Despite the "wet" enthusiasm, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, is confident of a substantial majority.

Several causes are advanced for the pronounced reversal of the dries. Mr. Hinckley declared the people are simply tired of a law that cannot be enforced. A high official of the government interpreted the sweep toward Democracy as primarily due to the dissatisfaction of the people with the prohibition regulations as they now exist. The National Civil Service Reform League declared scandals resulting from spoils appointments in the enforcement unit were among the principal causes of heavy Republican losses.

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

The city high school orchestra, which organized last school year, has grown in larger proportion and merit. Rev. Charles A. Ray, pastor of the Presbyterian church in this city, has been chosen as director of the orchestra, and gets regular high school credit for the work done. It has regular practice each Monday. The members furnish their own instruments and the board of education furnishes the music and supplies. The orchestra, composed of students altogether, is to be congratulated upon having such a willing and competent director. The young people are enthusiastic in their work and it can already be said that they play well, and the sweet strains of a full-fledged orchestra were heard in the History Club meeting Friday and were thoroughly enjoyed and appreciated by the hearers. The orchestra is composed of Prof. Ray, director; Miss Mary Frances Schafer, pianist; Misses Christine Ramsey, Laura Ray Crooks and Hord Tipton, Jr., violinists; Prof. L. M. Cain, Bernal Lappin and Mack Carrington, cornetists; Miss Agnes Stofer, John Raymond Tipton, Buford Howard and Darwin Ray, saxophones; Carroll Orear, drums; Earl King Senff, drum and bells; Henry Brock, banjo; Peyton Ray, banjo and trombone.

Most people expect the Lord not only to provide, but to clear off the table and wash the dishes.

Message To Red Cross

Following is a message to the American Red Cross from Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau:

We ex-service men think of the American Red Cross as an all-helpful mother and the Veterans' Bureau sees in that mother an always co-operating friend. Whether it be a matter of calling the bureau's attention to an unawarded claim or an ill man needing hospitalization or of tiding the sick veteran over the time which must elapse before government aid can be offered, the Red Cross is always on the job with expert service and the necessary goods.

In the bureau's "clean-up" campaign when effort was made to locate every ex-service man, no matter how remote his habitation, or how limited his powers of comprehension, the Red Cross workers brought to light hundreds of claims which might otherwise have lain until too late for the individual to make legal application. Taking good advantage of what some one has aptly termed her "strategic position" the Red Cross worker has penetrated the alleys of the city and the wilderness of the mountain in her search for the man who did not know that the government stood ready to help him.

The Veterans' Bureau's problem is a big one and we need the Red Cross. Together, and with the help of all the other agencies and individuals eager to serve, we will surely give most practical expression of America's appreciation of the debt which the nation owes the man of woman who gave health and strength in his country's cause.
